

We adore adventures
We share our know how
We build upon experience

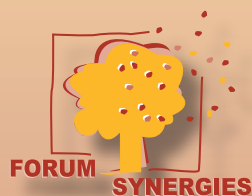

We wish to link rural and urban life

Forum Synergies is rooted in rural communities. We draw our energy from local action and a sense of place. We wish to make rural areas more attractive and to improve rural-urban relations. Forum Synergies creates connections between people who have already achieved good practice and people who look for ideas and encouragements to create a common sustainable future.

We invite you to join us and learn more...

We invite you to contact us, to take part in one of our workshops and events or to become a member. We offer individual and associative memberships. You may visit our website and receive our newsletter. We are happy to receive any suggestion, remark or constructive critique, as well as any donation you might wish to offer.

Find more information about our ideas and projects on our website www.forum-synergies.eu

You may also contact us at the following address:

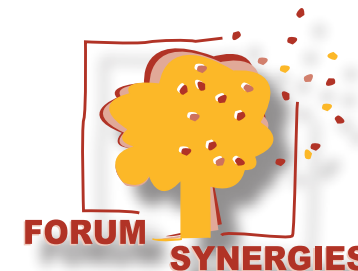

Forum Synergies

Post Box 25

B-1047 Brussels 46

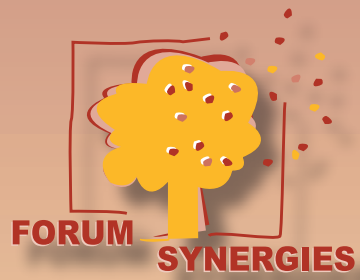

e-mail: info@forum-synergies.eu

FORUM SYNERGIES

Linking sustainable practises throughout Europe

We adore adventures

We share our know how

We build upon experience

We believe in democracy

We build upon experience

Forum Synergies is a European non-profit organisation. Since 1994 our network of engaged citizens and associations has gathered rich and varied experience in sustainable practices, mainly in rural areas. Trying out the best ways to save resources and energy in our local communities, combining the intelligent use of modern technologies with traditional know how, and sharing our successes and experiences throughout Europe, have given us faith in getting involved in political decision-making on our future.

We share our know how

Forum Synergies is a network of mutual support. When we meet in local workshops our hosts offer us their experiences in approaching sustainability. They expect to learn from critical questions and ideas for improvement. We make suggestions how to invest into a more diversified local economy, more intelligent transport and high quality food. We award the most creative sustainable practices. We support sustainable partnerships between private initiatives and public administrations.

We believe in democracy

Forum Synergies promotes participative democracy. We encourage people to get involved in planning and decision-making where they live. We help local initiatives to establish constructive relations with public authorities and private enterprises. Our workshops and public events invite old and young European citizens to discover their complementary responsibility for a more sustainable way of life. We believe that our European democratic heritage is worth sharing and strengthening because there is no better way to live in peace and solidarity.

We adore adventures

Forum Synergies creates partnership through discovery. Our travelling workshops across Europe have brought together civil society groups and politicians, private entrepreneurs and civil servants from local, regional, national and European Community levels. The only risk participants take is being influenced by other engaged citizens through common experience. We try to open the often closed-in mind-sets of nationalities, professions and political hierarchies for more cooperation.

We wish to link rural and urban life

We invite you to join us and learn more...

